Who Maintain Absolute Quiet Since the Bloody Affair of Friday Last.

The Situation in Brief To-day and all the Features of the Great Labor Struggle.

ALL IS WELL

With But Little Change in the Great Strike.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 12.—No disturbance or unlawful acts have been repeated since the incendiary fires last Friday night. It is now believed that no encounter between the militia and strikers will occur. Guard, however, over railroad property is observed this morning. Promised military protection to those who might desire to go to work to-day has resulted in the employment of a large number of applicants, most of whom are not Knights of Labor. Platform men of the freight depots are busy loading and unloading cars, and no interference by the strikers has occurred.

THE INQUEST.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—There were no new facts developed at the inquest in East St. Louis to-day. The witnesses were chiefly railroad men and all agreed that the deputy sheriffs fired the first shot and that no stones were thrown at them and that the crowd gave the deputies no other provocation for firing than hooting and jeering.

THE FIREMEN HAVE GRIEVANCES.

E. P. Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, issued a call this morning for meetings of the grievance committee of all local lodges in the Gould system to investigate the discharge of firemen and all other grievances which may be presented to them and report to the meeting of the general grievance committee at Parsons, Kas., in the 20th, inst.

THE MINERS STRIKE.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—The miners of the St. Louis district held a meeting yesterday and resolved not to resume work until after the strike shall have been ended. Four hundred and fifty miners on the Illinois and St. Louis railroad have struck, and it is expected more will strike about Belleville to-day.

THE SHOOTING DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—In the criminal court to-day the deputy sheriffs who did the shooting at East St. Louis Friday, were released on a habeas corpus, but were immediately re-arrested as fugitives from justice and placed in jail, where they will be kept until a requisition is received from the governor of Illinois.

RETURNED TO WORK.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—4 p. m.—Word has just been telephoned from East St. Louis that yard and switchmen of the Ohio and Mississippi and that Chicago, Burlington and Quincy yard and switchmen have returned to work.

GOULD DENIES.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Jay Gould denies that negotiations were pending between himself, Mr. Hoxie and Mr. W. O. McDowell.

NOTES.

The freight breakers on the Mobile and Ohio road struck yesterday for $55 for twenty-six trips of one hundred miles each.

The members of the paid fire department of Philadelphia have decided to join the Knights of Labor, in the hope of securing an increase of compensation.

T. V. Powderly has written to Congressman O'Neill that the labor arbitration bill is the best that could have been passed, although it will not be the means of settling all disputes between capital and labor.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, Chief Engineer Arthur has not been in St. Louis since Tuesday. He said: "No pressure has been brought to bear upon me to order a strike in support of the Knights of Labor on the Missouri Pacific, and if such a strike shall take place it will be without my sanction. I believe no such action will be taken, for our men have no grievance."

Martin Irons has gone to Parsons, Kansas, to encourage the railway strikers in holding out. Five of the persons killed at East St. Louis were buried yesterday, their corpses being followed to the cemetery by twelve hundred Knights of Labor and nearly all the city officials. Seven more companies of Illinois militia arrived yesterday, and General Reece has assumed command.

Jay Gould owns all the coal mines on the Wabash road and consequently all the avenues that can supply St. Louis. While the strikers have been stopping the Missouri Pacific he put up the price of coal to thirty cents a bushel. He is, therefore, making them pay for their fun as he goes along. It is money in his pocket that makes him strike with such an air of philosophic indifference.

As to the present situation of affairs, Mr. Powderly said: "I have no fear about the future of the Knights of Labor. We have seen the last strike we will have in this country in my judgment. I do not mean by that that we will refuse to fight in an extremity, but I do not think it will again be necessary to go to that extreme. Contractors can make contracts ahead without fear. There is no danger of a labor revolution or an epidemic of strikes. Differences can be settled more peaceably and will be."

Boys Marrying Old Women.

(Special Correspondence.)
NEW YORK, April 5.—It is getting to be the fashion for extremely young men to become enamored of extremely mature women. This peculiar phase of Cupid's work is not confined to New York. According to the newspapers it is almost epidemic all over the country, and Europe has furnished some illustrious examples during the last few years. Just the other day I had a letter from an old friend, who told me of a widow of 57, with three grown sons, the eldest 28, who, as my friend expressed it, had "up and married a boy of 19," to the great scandal of society in general and the mortification of her children in particular.

In former times, before society was tamed down to accepting the doings of people who flew in its face, such a match would have been considered nothing short of criminal. The bride would have found herself cut by her neighbors and persecuted by the combined indignation of the town. The lot of the bridegroom, too, outside of his home would not have been a happy one. But now, although society still arches its back when two persons marry without asking its permission and getting its blessing, it lets them off without any state-egg experience, because it doesn't quite dare to go that far; but, though it accepts the situation, it makes some wry faces over it.

The spectacle of rosy-cheeked boys hanging around women verging on 50 is not at all uncommon here. I can pick out seven or eight cases in a minute. The youths are infatuated and so are the mature beauties. They are steeped in sentimental folly, and pay no attention to the half-concealed sneers of others whose cardiac experience has been more after the regulation pattern.

Well, why shouldn't all this go on and no remarks be made? Since the beginning old men have made fools of themselves over very young women, and society saw but little in it to condemn. Why shouldn't the same tolerance be extended to the interested parties when that order is reversed and it is the bride who is elderly and the bridegroom young? Whose business is it who marries who, anyway?

In the case I know the secret of the attraction on the youth's part is that the mature women are always their superiors. Their minds are attractive. Then, in a kindly way, they take an interest in the neglected youths, praise what is good in them, set about cultivating their minds, and stimulate their self-respect. All of this is very gratifying to the recipient, who doubtless has never had any one take an interest in him in his life before. He begins to turn his attention to learning something. Quits talking "horse" and "show," and studies Shakespeare, picks up a bit of some other language and buys a fresh dress suit. His manners improve. He goes out as escort with his elderly sweet heart, who, being superior, mixes with superior people, and it's all a new and beneficial experience to him. He soon begins to turn up his nose at any talk about "pretty girls," makes remarks about "simpering dolls," and gives his chance to understand that a woman without brains is not to his taste. When chaffed about his preference for women of years he rants his antagonist completely, and allows nobody to sneer at his preference.

The experience refutes him. He becomes in every way a more interesting and useful person. His character improves and his mind expands. As for the mature woman, she is from fifteen to thirty-five years older than he, and it's a good thing she doesn't hear the mean remarks that are made about her interest in the young man—an interest which vulgar minds misapprehend entirely.

EBERT OLIVER.

The M. E. Conference.

In the M. E. conference at Warsaw, C. W. Lynch reported the Fort Wayne district. The report shows that in this district was a year of unusual prosperity. There have been received on probation over 1,200. There are over 5,100 members in the district, on average of more than 700. There has been an increase of more than $400 for missions, and a corresponding increase in all the benevolent collections. There have been 7,000 pastoral visits made to 1,970 families in the district. The following brothers were passed: M. S. Meets, C. W. Church, H. J. Lacy, J. Greer, J. K. Walts, W. W. Lamport, A. H. Currie, C. King, P. S. Cook, W. E. McCarthy, M. A. Teague, J. H. Slack, I. J. Bicknell, E. P. Church, J. B. Cook, J. A. Lowell; W. F. Yocum and G. W. Lincoln.

Mrs. Margaret Manier, well known as Mother Pollette, died this afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock, at the residence of Joseph Parry, aged 70 years. Mrs. Manier was universally loved and was one of the pioneer residents of the county. Notice of her funeral will be given tomorrow.

H. W. Matson, the architect, was at Muncie to-day.

John D. Rockefeller, of the Standard Oil company, two weeks ago gave $20,000 to the Baptist Theological Seminary, at Louisville, Ky., and last week gave $30,000 to the American Baptist Home Mission society, Charles H. Pratt, of Brooklyn, N. Y., recently gave $100,000 to found a public library in his city, and a like amount to build an Emmanuel Baptist church. Mr. Pratt is also an oil man.

GREAT WEALTH.

E. B. Shirk, the Richest Man in Northern Indiana.

The Peru Evening Journal, in a biographical sketch of E. B. Shirk, in which it makes the claim that he is the largest landholder in the state and the richest man in northern Indiana, says: "He has lived in Peru nearly forty years, and something of his activity may be inferred from the fact that, in 1881, he paid taxes to the amount of $16,000. He was not readily communicative about his fortune, but answered direct questions, and seemed totally unconscious of the fact that his achievements had been at all extraordinary. At the time of his death he owned seventy-three large farms in Indiana, all in a high state of cultivation, besides city property, prairie and timber lands in various parts of the union. His fifteen farms in Tipton county range in value from $2,000 to $12,000 each, his four farms in Marshall county range in value from $2,500 to $20,000 each; in Pulaski, ten farms; all large and valuable. In all the following named counties he had either a farm or farms: Wabash, Huntington, Warrick, Gibson, Cass, Fulton, Jasper, Adams, Jefferson and Allen. In the state of Michigan he had twenty-four farms and two thousand acres of timber land, largely pine. In Arkansas he held 6,000 and in Texas 9,000 acres of land. One of his first operations was getting possession of a large tract of Iowa land when emigration was turned in that direction. The Indiana farmer desiring to move to that state he would buy out, paying so much money and trade in the wild lands. That was repeated in Kansas with uncommon success. In every instance the farmer felt himself benefited and his condition improved. With a little money Kansas was a glorious state to which to move. It was also repeated in Arkansas, but not with such marked success, for the reason that many of the emigrants sickened and died, the lands, however, appreciated in value. The rental of one of his buildings in Chicago amounted to $75,000 annually. He also owned nine residences that rented for $1,000 and eight more at $200 each. In Kokomo he owned two hotels, three business houses and two residences; an establishment in Tipton, one in Monticello and one at Peru comprised his banking interests. Of the First National in Peru he owned $89,000 of the stock, and the stock would sell at $500 a share."

Our Society Abroad.

The Cincinnati Enquirer yesterday had these items:
Miss Laura d'Isay gave a progressive wreath party Monday evening. Among the guests were Misses Kate Chapin, Laura Smith, Flora Fowler, Etta Falls, Ada Heller, and Messrs. J. H. Young, Harry Gilford, George Taylor, C. K. Reimen and Bert Olds.
Bishop Knickerbachelor, of the Episcopal church, was in the city during the week, the guest of B. D. A. Hall.
Miss Katie MacDougal has returned from an extended visit with friends in Ottawa, Canada.
Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edgerton have returned to the city to make it their future home.
Mrs. Judge Brackenridge has returned to the Sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich.
J. R. Carey, S. C. Lumbard and H. G. Olds spent the past week in Ohio fishing.

Mrs. C. M. Jones and daughter are visiting friends in Canton.
R. Learmouth, jr., is visiting his parents in Alliance.
Supt. C. D. Law, who is now in New York, is expected home next Monday.
Mayor Muhler and wife are visiting friends in Chicago.
Mrs. W. D. Page and daughters, Fannie and Josie, have returned from a visit to Adrian, Mich.

TWO ROBBERIES.

W. W. Fox & Son and Christ Krah Touched by House Breakers.
Last night the general store of W. W. Fox & Son, in Nebraska, was entered by thieves, who raised a window and found access easy. They appropriated shirts, neckties, fancy articles and trinkets, valued at $50 or $75. Henry Fox is sick in his house, near the store, but singular enough no one was noticed about the premises by his nurse. The officers are working on the case and Sheriff Nelson sent out cards describing the stolen goods.

The book store of Christ Krah, on South Calhoun street, was also stealthily visited last night and a banjo and various other articles are missing. Mr. Krah is quiet about his loss and did not notify the police. His loss will foot up $25.
J. W. Bower, Toledo, M. H. Conaway, Chicago; B. Goodman, Philadelphia; M. B. Loeffer, Elkhart; J. Manley and wife are guests at the Robinson house.
It is said Clarence Cook will sell the World.
Supt. C. C. Law is in the city.
The day Sir Isaac Newton discovered the attraction of gravitation he sat under a tree and caught a severe cold. Alas! in those unenlightened days there was no Dr. Bull and no Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup either.

BURGLAR BAFFLED.

A Wabash Postal Clerk Captures a House Breaker.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

WABASH, Ind., April 12.—At a late hour last night Owen Sullivan, a postal clerk on the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway, who resides on East Hill street, was awakened by a burglar attempting to open one of the windows of the house. Sullivan rushed out clad in neither garments and gave chase to the thief, catching up with him on the cattle guard on the Wabash railway crossing. Sullivan administered two or three terrible blows which brought the burglar to his knees. The latter was carried to the jail insensible. He is a varnish pedler called Redney.

Gone to Canada to Evade His Creditors.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

WILWAUKEE, Wis., April 12.—A special from Watertown says that Rev. J. T. Koehler, who came from Manistee, Mich., some six months ago to take charge of the German Evangelical church, has been mysteriously absent for several days. A letter written from Detroit has been received tendering his resignation, and saying he would soon be safe in Canada. He had borrowed considerable money in Watertown, and obtained on credit clothing and jewelry.

Died from His Injuries.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 12.—John Miller, who lay two hours in the ruins of Pemberton mill before being rescued, died yesterday from the effects of his injuries. Florence McCarthy, a Boston and Lowell freight brakeman, who lost both his legs by being run over, is also dead. He fell under the train in a faint on hearing that his brother-in-law had been killed at the fire.

Three Men Drowned.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

RICHMOND, Va., April 12.—Information has been received here of the drowning of three men while crossing the new river, at Sunnyside, Va. The party consisted of C. J. and Wm. Hood, P. H. and Sam Quimby, W. A. Haynes and a negro ferryman. C. J. Hood and the Quimby brothers were drowned by the upsetting of the boat. They were in the employ of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

Mr. Gladstone's Bill.

By Cable to the Sentinel.

LONDON, April 12.—The opponents of Mr. Gladstone's Irish bill are beginning to admit that it will probably pass its second reading by a small majority. The press regard the abolition of Irish representation in the imperial parliament as the cardinal defect in the premier's bill.

A Bad Wreck.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 12.—A freight train coming west on the Baltimore and Ohio road last night, ran into a land slide, thirty miles east of Connelleville. The engine and seven cars were thrown from the track. John Coffman, engineer, was killed and the fireman seriously injured.

Postoffice Burning.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 12.—This afternoon a fire broke out in the third story of the Boston block, in which the postoffice is located. The building will be a total loss. The mails have all been saved.

The River Falling.

PERSONAL CHAT

About Men and Events of Interest in Fort Wayne.

James Brady, hailing from Buffalo, and Thomas Macy, of Lafayette, had a six round glove contest Saturday evening, in which the former came off victor.

On Tuesday the Terre Haute distillery shipped 150 barrels of highwines to Havre, France. This will probably turn in the form of French wines and liquors.

At the spring elections two years ago fifty democratic and thirty-four republican township trustees were elected in the six counties comprising the congressional district. Returns from all the counties except Starke now show the election of thirty-four democrats and forty-one republicans.

A double-headed calf with two distinct and perfectly formed skulls and necks was born on the farm of a Mr. Fatchey in Pow Pow township, Wabash county. The body of the animal in no wise differs from that of an ordinary calf. The life of the brute cannot be preserved.

Gottlieb Wuterich, a German peasant vender of Lafayette, committed suicide Thursday, by throwing himself in front of a Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific switch engine, causing instant death. Wuterich was led to the act by the fatal sickness of his only daughter, who lived with him. He had been of unsound mind for many years past.

In the investigation of the Jeffersonville levee appropriation scandal, O. O. Stealey, Speaker Carlisle's clerk, at the time of the incident a house committee clerk, completely vindicated himself from all blamable connection with the job. It seems that the money was paid to E. N. Hill, a Washington attorney, by Werder, but that Hill ever did anything for the money is not clear. This item will not find a place in the columns of many of the republican organs. But all of them published the scandal on Stealey in full.

Grandmother Nixon, of Bone Prairie, Kosciusko county, is at Warsaw attending the M. E. conference. Mrs. Nixon is an aunt of J. W. Campbell, of Warsaw. She is over eighty years of age and has been a member of the M. E. church for forty-three years. In 1843 she rode on horseback from Bone Prairie through Warsaw, now the Tippecanoe river, to what was known as Peter Warner's Camp Ground, and there united with the church of which she has been a member ever since. At that time, she says, Warsaw had a log court house and a log jail.

Letters received by persons in Logansport says that a large sum of money is lying in Washington to which they are heirs. It is stated that the fortune is a portion of a large sum paid over to the government as indemnity for French spoliation during the French and Indian war, which rightfully belongs to the estate of Col. Ball, who was then in control of large lines of shipping at Philadelphia, and many of whose ships were seized by the French. The amount of the claim and interest is estimated at $5,000,000. The news has aroused much interest among the heirs, some prominent residents, including Mrs. Daniel Conrad, S. A. Custer, Mrs. Susan Kriedler, Saml. Horne, George Horne, Mrs. A. J. Sutton, Mrs. Andrew Burnett, Samuel Conrad, Mrs. Mary Morehart, L. B. Custer, Chauncey Custer, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Joseph Chestnut and others. Besides these are George Custer, of Lithopolis, O.; John L. Custer, of Bowler, Iowa; Levi D. Horne, of Rochester, Ind., and Adam W. Horne, of Oregon.

PERSONAL MENTION.

John T. Raymond's correct name is Jerry T. O'Brien.

Ex-Governor Newell, of New Jersey, is practicing medicine at Centralia, W. T.

In Berlin a statue of Lessing is to be put up at a cost of some $80,000.

Col. P. P. G. Hall, paymaster U. S. A., is said to be the only living descendant of William Penn in this country.

Mr. Wilkie Collins' new novel, which is entitled "The Evil Genius," will be published early in May.

"President Cleveland," says the Boston Transcript, "look particular pains to include in an invitation to Frederick Douglass, 'the ladies of his family.'"

Messrs. Moody and Sankey will close their campaign in the south next week and will then retire, the former to Northfield, Mass., and the latter to Brooklyn.

Jefferson Davis is to be received at Montgomery, Alabama, on the 27th inst. with a salute of 100 guns.

An unknown man stepped up to Rev. Mr. Talmage once and said: "Well, sir, I am an evolutionist, and I want to discuss the question with you. I am also an abolitionist. I believe that when I die that will be the end of me." "Thank God for that!" devoutly ejaculated Mr. Talmage, as he walked off and left him perfectly dazed.—Philadelphia Item.

Mary Anderson, Maggie Mitchell, Lotta Ristori, Modjeska, Clara Morris and Rhea are all Catholics. The latter always attends early mass on each Sunday morning when not traveling. She succeeded in converting to her faith Miss Julia Wheeler, a former resident of Washington and a member of her company, who was baptized during Rhea's recent engagement in that city.

WASHINGTON.

Morrison Introduces His Tariff Bill.

By Telegram to the Sentinel.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—A resolution was offered in the senate by Mr. Beck, which was agreed to, appointing Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, to membership in the senate committee on commerce, in the place of Senator Jones, of Florida, during the present temporary absence of the latter.

HOUSE.

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported a bill to reduce the tariff taxes and modify the law in relation to the collection of revenue. Referred to the committee of the whole. Mr. McKinley prevented the views of the minority of the committee.

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution for the appointment of a select committee of seven, to be appointed by the speaker, to investigate the causes and extent of the disturbed conditions now existing in the relations between railroad corporations and their employees in the southwest and to report during the present session. Adopted.

NOMINATIONS.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: Howell E. Jackson, of Tennessee, circuit judge of the sixth judicial circuit, vice John Baxter, deceased; Frank Dyer, marshal of Utah territory. The senate immediately confirmed Judge Jackson in executive session.

NOTES.

Dr. Lincoln said to-night that Secretary Manning is very much better, and that he has improved greatly during the past week.

J. H. Stine, formerly of Union City, for several years clerk in the third auditor's office of the treasury department, has been reduced from $1,600 to $1,200.

The majority report of the committee on ways and means asserts that the average rate of duty last year was $47 on $100 worth of imported goods, which is higher than during the war.

FUNNY BUSINESS.

"There's that man Bilk, he's owed me for the paper three years," said a Minnesota editor, looking over his subscription book, "and I propose to get even with him." "What are you going to do, sue him?" asked a friend.

"No, I'm going to send him two copies of my paper each week—I don't think he will stand that very long."—Estelline (D. T.) Bell.

Musical Information.

Mrs. Peterby, of Austin, used to be a beautiful singer, but of late her voice seems to have come unglued. Glibboly, who is very careless in his conversation, was invited to tea. Music being the topic of conversation, Mrs. Peterby remarked that she believed her daughter had inherited her voice.

"It was wonderful what had become of it," remarked Glibboly.—Texas Sittings.

Adding Insult to Injury.

Sniffins—You have insulted me, sir. Noddoby—No, do you think so? Sniffins—Yes, I know so. But remember me, I'll pay you for it.

Noddoby—That's right, my boy. It's time you began to pay for something. Your creditors will be pleased.—The Rambler.

Half an hour later he receives a letter from the publishers, saying they accept his drawing, like it very much and have only returned it for him a few slight alterations.—Harper's Bazar.

A Self-Evident Fact.

Bagley—What do you think of this South mountain water scheme? Pugsby—I think we need more water. Not that the supply is insufficient, but people are so wasteful.

"That's true. Now I am very careful of water and I use as little as possible." "I don't doubt it. I can see that in your face."—Philadelphia Call.

COMMON SENSE IN LAFAYETTE.

Lafayette, Ind., shares with twenty-three other cities and towns in the United States, the distinction of being named after the great French patriot, who did so much for this country and his own, but it is alone in the honor of being mentioned in the Encyclopedia Britannica. Life in the lively pushing city on the Wabash, with its many cozy homes, fine public buildings, general air of prosperity and enterprise, is very pleasant and rich in the life of its citizens feel that it has assumed new charms since rheumatism has been robbed of its terrors.

This great benefaction, however, is not one which is rejected by the people of Lafayette alone, but it has been given to other cities as well, and to the world. Athlophoros is the magic remedy which drives away rheumatism and neuralgia, and Lafayette has only shown its characteristic enterprise in recognizing the new cure's many virtues. Among those whom it has benefited is Mrs. Francis Heath, of No. 79 Ferry street, an old resident and the mother of Frank Heath, in answer to one who recently called on her to learn the facts in the case she gave this account:

"I have had rheumatic pains in my feet for a number of years. They affected me at times so that it was with much difficulty that I could walk, especially in going down stairs. Athlophoros was first recommended to me by Bishop Bowman. I did not get it at that time, but kept trying other medicines. It was again recommended to me by a lady, J. R. then sent for and bought a bottle. I took a dose, and it seemed to me as if I could feel it go through my system until it came directly to the sore spot. It felt just as a little stream of water looks when during its course it comes in contact with a pebble. One or the other must give way. The water may run around the stone, but that was not the way Athlophoros did. It did not go around the pain, but drove it away. The relief was almost instantaneous. While I am getting along in years and cannot expect to get rid entirely of these pains at once, yet a small dose of Athlophoros in a little cream—the way in which I find most pleasant to take it—relieves the pain immediately."

Mr. Baldridge, who is in the real estate and insurance business at No. 94 South Third street, and who lives at No. 17 North Sixth street, happening to be passing while Mrs. Heath was speaking, she called him in and he gladly told how he had been cured of rheumatism by Athlophoros.

"I was just about to start down to my office one morning last winter," he said, "when a terrible pain took me right in the hip and then ran down the sciatic nerve as quick as lightning. It was with much pain and distress that I managed to get down to my office at all. My business being such that it was necessary for me to be at the office every day, I was obliged to hobble along and get there the best I could. I suffered for some time in this way, trying all kinds of remedies, but nothing seemed to check the disease until I commenced using Athlophoros. The first four doses gave me relief. I only used one bottle, and am perfectly well, as you see me now. I have never had any return of the pain since I took the Athlophoros."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—each dollar per bottle. We will send you a bottle of our perfect remedy, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order from J. V. J. & Co., proprietors, Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

NEVER SAY DIE THOUGH YOU COUGH TILL YOUR HEART ACHES

When the "Life Restoring" East India Remedy is at hand, one bottle will satisfy the most skeptical. Dr. H. JAMES' Remedy of Indian Hemp will positively cure Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Nervous Debility, and Nasal Catarrh. It is an important remedy. Try it—prove it for yourself.

Here are a few extracts from letters of persons who were cured, and now order for their friends:

"I fear cousin is in a decline, and as my medicines cured my only brother of a hemorrhage of the lungs about a year ago, I wish cousin to take them. Thy true friend, HANNAH MICKLE, Near Woodbury, N. J."

"As your medicine cured me of Consumption, some three years ago, I want him to try them. I gained fifteen pounds while taking the first three bottles. J. V. J. & Co., Louisville, Lawrenceburg, Anderson Co., Ky."

"Mother has been suffering with Bronchitis nearly twenty years, and tried most all kinds of medicine, and says the Cannabis India is the only thing that gives her relief. J. V. J. & Co., Louisville, Ky."

"I know all about the Cannabis India. Fifteen years ago it cured my daughter of the Asthma, she had it very bad for several years, but was perfectly cured. Please send me a box of your medicine. JACOB TROUT, Deep River, Honesick Co., Iowa."

"I have taken the Cannabis India as directed, and am happy to tell you that I am perfectly cured of Nasal Catarrh. You were right, my trouble was not Consumption, but Catarrh. JAMES A. CALDWELL, Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill."

"It has cured Mrs. Bebout of General Debility of the whole system, of two or three years' standing and others trying it with success. HENRY & LESLIE, Simpson's Store, Washington county, Pa."

Ask your druggist for Dr. H. JAMES' Cannabis India, and if they fail you, send to us direct, $2.50 per bottle or three bottles for $6.50. Pills and Ointment, 25¢ each. CHADDOCK & CO., proprietors, 1032 Race St., Philadelphia, Pa.

ALL THAT SCIENCE AND ART COULD DO TO MAKE BENSON'S CAPELIN PLASTER THE BEST POROUS PLASTER, AND ALSO THE BEST GENERAL EXTERNAL REMEDY IN THE WORLD, HAS BEEN DONE. Whenever it is possible to improve them it is done. Benson's Capelin Plaster has not made to impose upon the credulous, but to cure disease. Their eminent success has pro- cured for them the voluntary endorsement of 5000 physicians, pharmacists and druggists throughout the country, and the unspoken preference of the intelligent public. They are prompt, powerful, cleanly and certain. Refuse imitations styled "Capelin," "Cap- solum," or "Capelin," plasters. Reputable druggists only. The Three Seals' trademark on the genuine and the word "Capelin" cut in the centre of the plaster.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.
MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1886.

JOSEPH PULITZER has resigned his seat in congress from New York, preferring to give his whole attention to the World.

Mrs. JOHN A. LOGAN, who is managing a ball in Washington, in the quarters of the Chinese legation, for the benefit of the Garfield hospital fund, has received an anonymous warning of a political boycott.

JOHN SLATER is to serve as Wayne township assessor by proxy. What a farce and wrong on the people who voted for him. Besides, his proxy, Mr. Briant, is prone to excessive valuation and even republicans fear his judgment on city property that now is doubly taxed and too highly valued.

Mrs. MACKAY, the wife of the "silver king" of California, has rented No. 7 Buckinghamgate, London, from Lord Sudeley, for the season. This, says a London paper, will be joyful news for the Lady Outatellbrows and the Lady Nothing Nowhere class of aristocrats, who sponge so assiduously upon wealthy Americans.

The extent of the Nova Scotia coal-fields in Cape Breton County is 300 square miles and over 100 square miles of adjoining sub-marine coal. The quantity of available coal is 1,886,000,000 tons (nearly two billions). The output last year was 467,577 tons. The area in Pictou County is about thirty-five square miles and the output of 1885 was 363,236 tons. In Cumberland County the area is 300 square miles, and one mine alone put out 345,000 tons last year. The most of these mines are at tidewater, and therefore in direct water communication with New England ports and supply that section in part. For steam, domestic, and gas use the Cape Breton coal is said to compare favorably with the Pittsburgh, possessing the same character of low ash and adaptability for coke-making which distinguish the latter.

EX-SENATOR JAMES W. BRADBURY, who is only four years younger than the present century, is still living at Augusta, Maine, able to read without spectacles, and with hand and foot firm as in his younger days. He is fond of talking of the Senate of 1848, in which he and Hannibal Hamlin sat, with Simon Cameron and Jefferson Davis. "The latter's seat," he says, "was next to mine. Mr. Davis was personally one of the most agreeable men in the Senate. He had the faculty of making more friends in a given time than anyone else I ever knew. He was peculiarly and intensely sensitive to public opinion." Mr. Bradbury's favorite friend in the Senate was Stephen A. Douglas, but he thinks that Webster and Calhoun were by far the greatest statesmen of their time. Mr. Bradbury is one of only seven surviving members of Bowdoin's famous class of 1825, in which he and Henry W. Longfellow had equal rank.

HON. PATRICK SHANNON was buried at Terre Haute yesterday. His death resulted from obesity, as he weighed over 300 pounds. He was born in county Sligo, Ireland, April 5, 1830, but was brought to this country when only a year old. He went to Terre Haute in 1846 with his father, who was a contractor on the Wabash and Erie canal, young Pat acting as paymaster. He went into the pump business and then into the liquor traffic. In 1856 he entered the bank of John H. Watson as partner and Watson & Shannon conducted its business until 1860, when Watson died. Mr. Shannon continued the business until his death. In politics he was a democrat and somewhat active. He was in the Terre Haute council before the war. In 1892 he was defeated in the election for treasurer of Vigo county. In 1878 he was a candidate for the nomination for treasurer of state, but failed to get it. In 1871 he was elected by the legislature of Indiana financial agent of the state, and served two years. During his term he paid off nearly all the balance of the state debt, and the legislature deemed it inexpedient to have another state agent. He left a wife and three adopted children.

A LIONESS in a London menagerie lately had two cubs, and one of them was transferred to a female dog and reared by her. The cub has lost all its mother's ferocity, and has developed the affectionate disposition of its wet nurse.

SENATOR SPOONER has good-humoredly stood a great deal of chaffing about his small stature, but at last he is reported to be getting rather tired of the continual notice which is taken of him. "Great Scott!" he said the other day, "do people expect a man to be seven feet high because he happens to be a Senator?"

DR. O. W. HOLMES is to visit Europe this spring for a summer trip, in company with his daughter, Mrs. Turner Sargent. Though fifty times better known in England as an author than in his own country, through the cheap reprints of his "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," he has not crossed the ocean for fifty years—not since his student days.

Mrs. WHITNEY, mother of Anne Whitney, the sculptress, is living at Watertown, Mass., at the age of one hundred and one years. A few days ago she surprised the family by walking into the breakfast-room at an unusually early hour. "Why, mother," exclaimed her daughter, "did you come down-stairs alone?" "Why, yes," replied the energetic centenarian; "I should think I was old enough to come alone!"

SUPERSTITIOUS people must brace up and do the best they can in this dreadful year of 1886. It is a thoroughly Friday year. It came in Friday, will go out Friday, and will have fifty-three Fridays. There are four months in the year that have five Fridays each, changes of the moon occur five times Friday, and the longest and the shortest day of the year each falls on Friday. There seems to be no help for it if Friday brings bad luck. There is no way of changing the thing.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Star, of Washington, that in North Carolina there is a mountain formation very closely resembling the Sphinx. It is called the "Pilot Knob," and is in Surry County, in the northwestern part of the State, just east of the Blue Ridge; its position, prone on the Piedmont plain, like a gigantic lion; its body at right angles to the precipitous ridge, and with head reared aloft, as if in the act of rising. The head is of solid rock, several hundred feet in height. The shoulders and breast are finely proportioned, and at the distance of a few miles it looks like a thing of life and intelligence. It rises about fifteen hundred feet above the plain. It is seen at the distance of fifty miles; but as yet no railroad approaches it nearer than twenty miles.

"He that lacks time to mourn, lacks time to mend." The better way is to take a pain in time, fight it daily and hourly with Salvation Oil, and not have anything to mourn about. You can buy this splendid remedy for twenty-five cents at any drug store.

Fred. Gebhard will sail for England Saturday, and New York club gossip has it that he will wear the "Jersey Lily" back as his bride before the Newport season is open.

Use the great specific for cold in head and catarrh—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

At Krupp's, in Essen, a railroad truck has just been built with sixteen axles. It was made for the special purpose of transporting by rail a cannon, which is fifty feet long and weighs nearly 136 tons, from Essen to Spezzia, in Italy, by way of the St. Gothard tunnel. The truck is seventy-six feet long and the axles are divided into groups of four, which easily adapt themselves to the curves in the road.

Mrs. MAGGIE VAN COTT, the evangelist is now conducting a series of meetings in Denver. To a reporter of that city she recently said that during the past seven years she has delivered 1,978 sermons, conducted 5,094 meetings, spent 8,446 hours in churches, written 8,199 religious letters, brought 12,667 seekers to the altar, traveled 71,270 miles, received 4,330 converts on probation and baptized 1,086 persons. She was born in 1830.

P. T. BARNUM says, in a letter to the Philadelphia News: "If the proposition of my name as an honorary member of the Thirteen Club will aid in the smallest degree in removing the ridiculous and shameful superstition which exists in relation to the number thirteen I shall feel honored in being so proposed. In my autobiography I dedicated a chapter to No. XIII, and showed by a letter from my clergyman that a fortunate and honored number it is. It is humiliating that in this nineteenth century the superstition still lingers among intelligent persons. No person ought to be hanged Friday for the next fifty years. I am in full accord with your society, so far as it tries to expel superstition in regard to No. 13, or Friday, or anything else. For fifty years I have, as far as possible, made it a point to start my enterprises Fridays."

Is very prevalent at this season, the symptoms being bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, loss of appetite. If this condition is allowed to continue, serious consequences may follow. By promptly taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, a fever may be avoided or premature death prevented. It is a positive cure for biliousness. Sold by all druggists.

Sir Arthur Sullivan and Mr. Gilbert have, it is said, hit last upon a plan which they believe will prevent their works from being pirated by the United States. It is to associate an American author in the next opera to such an extent as will let him copyright the work. The plot of the new piece—an Egyptian opera—is now so far developed that the New York collaborator has received his assignment of several brief passages of dialogue and music to write.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common, complaint known as "that tired feeling," is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohio.

Strengthen the System

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of medicinal agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. J. THOMAS, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." L. BARNHART, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

A SYMPHONY IN RAGS.

The King of Tramps Spends a Night at Central Police Station.

He was a tramp—there was no doubt of that. He would have repelled any insinuation to the contrary as an insult. The contented look proclaimed it quite as loudly as his rags, and his quiet wink to the station-keeper was as good as an official seal upon his title to the name. He was a lord, a prince, a very king of tramps, as he entered Central station Wednesday night and inquired if there were any extra beds to let in that establishment. The fact that there was no private bath to be provided for him was a disappointment, and he insisted upon a fresh towel after he had dipped the tips of his unspeakably dirty fingers into the basin of water brought for his use. His clothes were a fantastic crazy quilt which, set to music, would have startled Wagner. To tell the names of the apparent colors of his patches—the quarters of arms—would require a uniliner, to enumerate their number would be the work of a mathematician. Evidently his costume was composed chiefly, if not altogether, of scraps which he had picked up in his wanderings and sewed on at the particular place where they would do the most good. Like the great master, Rembrandt, he had no basal color.

His face was a study. He was a tramp, but he was not—necessarily—a hypocrite. He was not unwillingly seeking aid with which to bury a dead sister, nor did he lack just a nickel of his fare to Indianapolis. On the contrary, he smiled broadly and winked in a perfectly friendly way when he said that he would admit the whole truth at once and confess that he was traveling from Troy, N. Y., to Galveston, Tex., to take possession of a large estate which an immensely rich uncle had left for his exclusive benefit.

As a matter of course, he was given a bed. And he left the next morning after soliciting inquiring whether the Gault or the Lonsdale was the better breakfast table. He persisted in his intention to send a handsome check from Galveston to the station-keeper, insisting that he would feel aggrieved if he were not allowed to do so. He did not give his real name. He did not need to do so. He is the king of tramps.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

CARP PONDS.

Information from One Who Has Had Experience.

As several of the World's readers want information regarding the construction of carp ponds I will give for their benefit one of the best plans I have encountered in my experience:

Fig. 1 represents the springs or source of a creek. Fig. 2 is a pipe or open ditch from creek to pond. Fig. 3 is an egg-shaped pond. Fig. 4 is the outlet from pond to the creek. A carp pond can be made round, square, in the shape of a star or any other shape, but egg-shaped I prefer.

Such a pond can be constructed alongside large creeks or rivers. Inlet ditches could be made an eighth or even one-fourth of a mile in length to some low spot. There are such places on most farms that could be put under water and soon become valuable.

A carp pond one-fourth of an acre in extent ought to have a deep place in it of about forty feet square. In the Eastern and Middle States this deep place should be six feet in depth; in the Southern States four feet is deep enough. In the first-named States it is best if there is a muddy bottom. My pond has mud in it to the depth of one foot. From such a pond ice can be taken without any harm to the carp. In my pond I have carp that weigh from three to ten pounds each, besides many thousands of small ones. I had two crops of ice taken from it this last winter, and I do not think that one carp, either small or large, was injured. We worked with care when taking the ice cakes out of the water.

Some farmers have run through their farms a stream of water. If they want to make a pond they do it by damming up the stream. This is better and more profitable than no pond at all. The only trouble with such ponds is during high water some of the young carp will be carried down the stream. I do not think that many of the old ones will escape, as their habit is to keep to the bottom unless the sun is out very warm. It is a mistake to make a carp pond of uniform depth. It should slope towards the center. Shallow water from six inches to one foot deep is the place where the carp spends its time from ten o'clock a. m. till five o'clock p. m. The moss grass and weeds there are in a carp pond this more young carp can be raised. Here is just where a great many men fail who have carp ponds. They have them too nice and clean. This was the fault I made at first. I tried to have my pond as clean as possible, but I soon learned that grass, weeds, water lilies, etc., are of great importance. A female carp that weighs five pounds lays at least five hundred thousand eggs in a season.—D. N. Kern, in N. Y. World.

CARP PONDS.

Information from One Who Has Had Experience.

As several of the World's readers want information regarding the construction of carp ponds I will give for their benefit one of the best plans I have encountered in my experience:

Fig. 1 represents the springs or source of a creek. Fig. 2 is a pipe or open ditch from creek to pond. Fig. 3 is an egg-shaped pond. Fig. 4 is the outlet from pond to the creek. A carp pond can be made round, square, in the shape of a star or any other shape, but egg-shaped I prefer.

Such a pond can be constructed alongside large creeks or rivers. Inlet ditches could be made an eighth or even one-fourth of a mile in length to some low spot. There are such places on most farms that could be put under water and soon become valuable.

A carp pond one-fourth of an acre in extent ought to have a deep place in it of about forty feet square. In the Eastern and Middle States this deep place should be six feet in depth; in the Southern States four feet is deep enough. In the first-named States it is best if there is a muddy bottom. My pond has mud in it to the depth of one foot. From such a pond ice can be taken without any harm to the carp. In my pond I have carp that weigh from three to ten pounds each, besides many thousands of small ones. I had two crops of ice taken from it this last winter, and I do not think that one carp, either small or large, was injured. We worked with care when taking the ice cakes out of the water.

Some farmers have run through their farms a stream of water. If they want to make a pond they do it by damming up the stream. This is better and more profitable than no pond at all. The only trouble with such ponds is during high water some of the young carp will be carried down the stream. I do not think that many of the old ones will escape, as their habit is to keep to the bottom unless the sun is out very warm. It is a mistake to make a carp pond of uniform depth. It should slope towards the center. Shallow water from six inches to one foot deep is the place where the carp spends its time from ten o'clock a. m. till five o'clock p. m. The moss grass and weeds there are in a carp pond this more young carp can be raised. Here is just where a great many men fail who have carp ponds. They have them too nice and clean. This was the fault I made at first. I tried to have my pond as clean as possible, but I soon learned that grass, weeds, water lilies, etc., are of great importance. TEAS Reduced in Proportion.

It is no more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 20c per pound then they come within the reach of all. We are enabled to sell so low simply in consequence of our famous trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumers, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per cent.

The Hartkopf anatomical museum is the greatest card of the season. The figures are marvelous and crowds visit the show. Mr. John Harmon gives the attraction his entire attention, and with his partner, Charley Goodman, has added many features to the already wonderful exhibition of wonders.

Miss Mattie Vickers is unaffectedly fresh and buoyant, says the Detroit Free Press; she seems to love her work and to put her whole heart and soul into it. She has a demonstrative personality, and she knows how to exercise it. She has a style of her own, a novelty in her method and manner quite distinct from any other artist in her special line.

"TICKET, PLEASE!"

The Railroad Conductors Hold an Important Reunion in Fort Wayne—Chief Wheaton Talks on Strikes.

The Order of Railroad conductors had an important gathering here yesterday. Forty divisions were represented from the states of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The assembly convened at the cosy parlors of the local Brotherhood in the App block yesterday morning. There were present 100 members. In the absence of Mayor Muhler, Capt. Hugh M. Diehl welcomed the visiting Knights of the Punch and tendered them the freedom of the city. Conductor Wm. P. Sheehan responded for the Fort Wayne boys and Grand Chief Conductor C. S. Wheaton, of Chicago, spoke for the visitors.

The session of the Brotherhood was private and was more to instruct and familiarize the members in the work and purpose of the order than anything else. From this the party adjourned to the Rich hotel, where a most inviting feast awaited disposition. The dinner, like the rest of the day, passed amid pleasant talk and everyone was pleased with their visit and the lavish hospitality of the Fort Wayne order, which, by the way, is composed of some ninety-five of the cleverest fellows met in any walk in life.

"What do you think of the present strike in the southwest?" advanced the newspaper man.

"The conductors have no part in the controversy," remarked Mr. Wheaton, "and not a half dozen conductors on the entire Gould system will be compromised by the controversy. The conductors are working or ready to work. Our order is averse to strikes and can not sustain them. The era of force is past; it is lawless, and the order, composed of thinking, careful men, realize it and propose to stand by and sustain the railroad companies on all occasions. Our men can quit work. They will not strike. We experience no trouble in settling our difficulties by arbitration, and now the executive committee of the order is at Washington working against the passage of the pending arbitration bill, which is a cheat, inasmuch as it provides for arbitration, but does not make the decision of such a board binding or compulsory. It puts a premium on strikes and is not much better than a scheme calculated to first precipitate a strike to induce final and inconsequential arbitration, and is simply an expression on arbitration, without insuring a single blessing from that source. We do not recognize the Knights of Labor, in whose ranks there is constant strife and internal upheavals natural to a body composed of a varied people in every stage of intellectual advancement, and in every condition in life, wielded by every passing fancy and passion. The conductors believe in serving the railroad companies and upholding their interests, because they pay us the highest premium we can command for our labor—the only capital we have. Our membership is select, because, unlike the Knights of Labor, we can choose our company. There are 10,000 members of the order now in the United State, and our insurance plan is increasing in efficiency. We now pay $2,000 for deaths or total disability, and by June 1 it will be $2,500 for the cause named."

Mr. Wheaton is on his way east, and the visitors repaired to their homes last night and this morning. These meetings will occur annually in Fort Wayne.

SUNDAY SINNERS.

The Mayor is Greeted by Sirens and Suckers.

Long before the clock at city hall indicated 9, the lobby was a mass of men and boys craning their soiled necks to get a glimpse of three tightly veiled creatures of misfortune, who were arrested at "52" Chicago street in the society of Doc. Jackson, the colored cook, Peter Burwell and Isaac Inman. The women registered as Mary Eyhold, Jennie Jones, Annie Smith and Belle Davis. The women had a war of words with the officers who considerably diminished their standing. The lobby cheered lustily. Madam Eyhold is the rather winsome wife of a shoemaker at Liberty Mills, Wabash county. Her companions are faded. Peter Burwell is from South Whitley. He and Madam Eyhold put up and were not seen. The others went to jail in default of $18 each and they are now bustling their friends.

James Roberts, Casper Linderman and Jack Hines were fined for drunkenness and went to jail.

St. Peter's Church, Rome, Italy.

The church of St. Peter, which Gibbon calls the most glorious, stupendous structure that has ever been applied to the use of religion in the christian era, was commenced by Pope Nicholas the Fifth, in the year 1450, on the site of an ancient Casilica, and after a period of construction of 176 years, and carried through the reign of twenty popes, and directed by twelve architects, among them Bramante, Raffaello, Michael Angelo, Giacomo della Porta and Madrona, it was dedicated by Urban the Eighth, in the year 1626. It stands to-day one of the wonders of the world in point of architecture. Age from commencement, 436 years. WILLIAM HENCK.

ALL IS WELL

With But Little Change in the Great Strike.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 12.—No disturbance or unlawful acts have been repeated since the incendiary fires last Friday night. It is now believed that no encounter between the militia and strikers will occur. Guard, however, over railroad property is observed this morning. Promised military protection to those who might desire to go to work to-day has resulted in the employment of a large number of applicants, most of whom are not Knights of Labor. Platform men of the freight depots are busy loading and unloading cars, and no interference by the strikers has occurred.

THE INQUEST.
ST. LOUIS, April 12.—There were no new facts developed at the inquest in East St. Louis to-day. The witnesses were chiefly railroad men and all agreed that the deputy sheriff fired the first shot and that no stones were thrown at them and that the crowd gave the deputies no other provocation for firing than hooting and jeering.

THE FIREMEN HAVE GRIEVANCES.
P. Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, issued a call this morning for meetings of the grievance committees of all local lodges in the Gould system to investigate the discharge of firemen and all other grievances which may be presented to them and report to the meeting of the general grievance committee at Parsons, Kas., in the 20th, inst.

THE MINERS SILENT.
ST. LOUIS, April 12.—The miners of the St. Louis district held a meeting yesterday and resolved not to resume work until after the strike shall have ended. Four hundred and fifty miners on the Illinois and St. Louis railroad have struck, and it is expected more will strike about Belleville to-day.

THE SHOOTING DEPUTY SHERIFFS.
ST. LOUIS, April 12.—In the criminal court to-day the deputy sheriffs who did the shooting at East St. Louis Friday, were released on a habere corpus, but were immediately re-arrested as fugitives from justice and placed in jail, where they will be kept until a requisition is received from the governor of Illinois.

RETURNED TO WORK.
ST. LOUIS, April 12.—4 p. m.—Word has just been telephoned from East St. Louis that yard and switchmen of the Ohio and Mississippi and that Chicago, Burlington and Quincy yard and switchmen have returned to work.

GOULD DENIES.
NEW YORK, April 12.—Jay Gould denies that negotiations were pending between himself, Mr. Hoxie and Mr. W. O. McDowell.

NOTES.
The freight brakemen on the Mobile and Ohio road struck yesterday for $55 for twenty-six trips of one hundred miles each.

The members of the paid fire department of Philadelphia have decided to join the Knights of Labor, in the hope of securing an increase of compensation.

T. V. Powderly has written to Congressman O'Neill that the labor arbitration bill is the best that could have been passed, although it will not be the means of settling all disputes between capital and labor.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, Ohio Engineer Arthur has not been in St. Louis since Tuesday. He said: "No pressure has been brought to bear upon me to order a strike in support of the Knights of Labor on the Missouri Pacific, and if such a strike shall take place it will be without my sanction. I believe no such action will be taken, for our men have no grievance."

Martin Irons has gone to Parsons, Kansas, to encourage the railway strikers in holding out. Five of the persons killed at East St. Louis were buried yesterday, their corpses being followed to the cemetery by twelve hundred Knights of Labor and nearly all the city officials. Seven more companies of Illinois militia arrived yesterday, and General Rice has assumed command.

therefore, making them pay for their fun as he goes along. It is money in his pocket that makes him view the strike with such an air of philosophic indifference.

As to the present situation of affairs, Mr. Powderly said: "I have no fear about the future of the Knights of Labor. We have seen the last strike we will have in this country in my judgment. I do not mean by that that we will refuse to fight in an extremity, but I do not think it will again be necessary to go to that extreme. Contractors can make contracts ahead without fear. There is no danger of a labor revolution or an epidemic of strikes. Differences can be settled more peaceably and will be."

Boys Marrying Old Women.

(Special Correspondence.)
NEW YORK, April 5.—It is getting to be the fashion for extremely young men to become enamored of extremely mature women. This peculiar phase of Cupid's work is not confined to New York. According to the newspapers it is almost epidemic all over the country, and Europe has furnished some illustrious examples during the last few years. Just the other day I had a letter from an old friend, who told me of a widow of 57, with three grown sons, the eldest 28, who, as my friend expressed it, had "up and married a boy of 19," to the great scandal of society in general and the mortification of her children in particular.

In former times, before society was tamed down to accepting the doings of people who flew in the face of such a match would have been considered nothing short of criminal. The bride would have found herself out by her neighbors and persecuted by the combined indignation of the town. The lot of the bridegroom, too, would have been no different. He would not have been a happy one. But now, although society still looks at such a union with a frown, it is not so severe as it once was. Two persons marry without asking its permission and getting its blessing, it lets them off without any state-egg experience, because it doesn't quite dare to go that far; but, though it accepts the situation, it makes some very faces over it.

The spectacle of rascally-looking boys hanging around women verging on 50 is not at all uncommon here. I can pick out seven or eight cases in a minute. The youths are infatuated and so are the mature beauties. They are steeped in sentimental folly, and pay attention to the half-concealed snuggles of others whose cardiac experience has been more after the regulation pattern.

Well, why shouldn't all this go on and no remarks be made? Since the beginning of time have made fools of themselves over very young women, and society saw but little in it to condemn. Why shouldn't the same toleration be extended to the interested parties when that order is reversed and it is the bride who is elderly and the bridegroom young? Whose business is it who marries who, anyway?

In the cases I know the secret of the attraction on the youth's part is that the mature women are always their superiors. Their minds are attractive. Then, in a kindly way, they take an interest in the neglected youths, praise what is good in them, set about cultivating their minds, and stimulate their self-respect. All of which is very grateful to the recipient, who doubts his life has never had any one take an interest in him in his life before. He begins to turn his attention to learning something. Quits talking "horse" and "show," and studies Shakespeare, picks up a bit of some other language and buys a fresh dress suit. His manners improve. He goes out as escort with his elderly sweetheart, who, being superior, mixes with superior people, and it is all a new and beautiful experience to him. He soon begins to turn up his nose at any talk about "pretty girls," makes remarks about "stunning dolls," and gives his charms to understand that a woman without brains is not to his taste. When chaffed about his preference for women of years he retorts his antagonist completely, and allows nobody to sneer at his preference.

The experience refines him. He becomes in every way a more interesting and useful person. His character improves and his mind expands. As for the mature woman, she is from fifteen to thirty-five years older than he, and it is a good thing she doesn't hear the mean remarks that are made about her interest in the young man—an interest which vulgar minds misapprehend entirely.

—Ramon Oliver.

The M. E. Conference.

In the M. E. conference at Warsaw, C. W. Lynch reported the Fort Wayne district. The report shows that in this district was a year of unusual prosperity. There have been received on probation over 1,200. There are over 5,100 members in the district, on average of more than 700. There has been an increase of more than $400 for missions, and a corresponding increase in all the benevolent collections. There have been 7,000 pastoral visits made to 1,970 families in the district. The following brothers were passed: M. S. Mella, C. W. Church, H. J. Tacy, J. Greer, J. K. Wilds, A. W. Lampert, A. H. Currie, C. King, P. S. Cook, W. E. McCarthy, M. A. Teague, J. H. Black, J. J. Bicknell, E. P. Church, J. B. Cook, J. A. Lowellyn; W. F. Young and G. W. Lincoln.

Mrs. Margaret Munier, well known as Mother Pallete, died this afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock, at the residence of Joseph Purry, aged 70 years. Mrs. Munier was universally loved and was one of the pioneer residents of the county. Notice of her funeral will be given tomorrow.

H. W. Matson, the architect, was at Muncie to-day.

John D. Rockefeller, of the Standard Oil company, two weeks ago gave $20,000 to the Baptist Theological Seminary, at Louisville, Ky., and last week gave $30,000 to the American Baptist Home Mission society, Charles H. Pratt, of Brooklyn, N. Y., recently gave $100,000 to found a public library in his city, and a like amount to build an Emmanuel Baptist church. Mr. Pratt is also an oil man.

GREAT WEALTH.

E. B. Shirk, the Richest Man in Northern Indiana.

The Peru Evening Journal, in a biographical sketch of E. B. Shirk, in which it makes the claim that he is the largest landholder in the state and the richest man in northern Indiana, says: "He has lived in Peru nearly forty years, and something of his activity may be inferred from the fact that, in 1881, he paid taxes to the amount of $16,000. He was not readily communicative about his fortune, but answered direct questions, and seemed totally unconscious of the fact that his achievements had been at all extraordinary. At the time of his death he owned seventy-three large farms in Indiana, all in a high state of cultivation, besides city property, prairie and timber lands in various parts of the state. His fifteen farms in Tipton county range in value from $2,000 to $12,000 each, his fourteen farms in Marshall county range in value from $2,500 to $20,000 each; in Pulaski, ten farms; all large and valuable. In all the following named counties he had either a farm or farms: Wabash, Huntington, Warrick, Gibson, Cass, Fulton, Jasper, Adams, Jefferson and Allen. In the state of Michigan he had twenty-four farms and two thousand acres of timber land, largely pine. In Arkansas he held 6,000 and in Texas 9,000 acres of land. One of his first operations was getting possession of a large tract of Iowa land when emigration was turned in that direction. The Indiana farmer desiring to move to that state he would buy out, paying so much money and trade in the wild lands. That was repeated in Kansas with uncommon success. In every instance the farmer felt himself benefited and his condition improved. With a little money Kansas was a glorious state to which to move. It was also repeated in Arkansas, but not with such marked success, for the reason that many of the emigrants sickened and died; the lands, however, appreciated in value. The rental of one of his buildings in Chicago amounted to $75,000 annually. He also owned nine residences that rented for $1,000 and eight more at $200 each. In Kokomo he owned two hotels, three business houses and two residences; an establishment in Tipton, one in Monticello and one at Peru occupied his building interests. Of the First National in Peru he owned $80,000 of the stock, and the stock would sell at $800 a share."

Krah Touched by House

Breakers.

Last night the general store of W. W. Fox & Son, in Nebraska, was entered by thieves, who raised a window and found access easy. They appropriated shirts, fancy articles and trinkets, valued at $50 or $75. Henry Fox is sick in his house, near the store, but singular enough no one was noticed about the premises by his nurse. The officers are working on the case and Sheriff Nelson sent out cards describing the stolen goods.

The book store of Christ Krah, on South Calhoun street, was also stealthily visited last night and a banjo and various other articles are missing. Mr. Krah is quiet about his loss and did not notify the police. His loss will foot up $25.

WABASH, Ind., April 12.—At a late hour last night Owen Sullivan, a postal clerk on the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway, who resides on East Hill street, was awakened by a burglar attempting to open one of the windows of the house. Sullivan rushed out clad in neither garments and gave chase to the thief, catching up with him on the cattle guard on the Wabash railway crossing. Sullivan administered two or three terrible blows which brought the burglar to his knees. The latter was carried to the jail insane. He is a varnish pedler called Reducy.

He had borrowed considerable money in Watertown, and obtained on credit clothing and jewelry.

Died from His Injuries.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
Lawrence, Mass., April 12.—John Miller, who lay two hours in the ruins of Pemberton mill before being rescued, died yesterday from the effects of his injuries. Florence McCarthy, a Boston and Lowell freight brakeman, who lost both his legs by being run over, is also dead. He fell under the train in a faint on hearing that his brother-in-law had been killed at the fire.

Wuterich was led to the act by the fatal sickness of his only daughter, who lived with him. He had been of un sound mind for many years past.

In the investigation of the Jeffersonville levee appropriation scandal, O. O. Stanley, Speaker Carlisle's clerk, at the time of the incident a house committee clerk, completely vindicated himself from all blamable connection with the job. It seems that the money was paid to E. N. Hill, a Washington attorney, by Wuterich, but that Hill ever did anything for the money is not clear. This item will not find a place in the columns of many of the republican organs. But all of them published the scandal on Stanley in full.

Grandmother Nixon, of Bone Prairie, Kosciusko county, is at Warsaw attending the M. E. conference. Mrs. Nixon is an aunt of J. W. Campbell, of Warsaw. She is over eighty years of age and has been a member of the M. E. church for forty-three years. In 1843 she rode on horseback from Bone Prairie through Warsaw, now the Tippecanoe river, to what was known as Peter Warner's Camp Ground, and there united with the church of which she has been a member ever since. At that time, she says, Warsaw had a log court house and a log jail.

Letters received by persons in Logansport says that a large sum of money is lying in Washington to which they are heirs. It is stated that the fortune is a portion of a large sum paid over to the government as indemnity for French spoliation during the French and Indian war, which rightfully belong to the estate of Col. Bull, who was then in control of large lines of shipping at Philadelphia, and many of whose ships were seized by the French. The amount of the claim and interest is estimated at $5,000,000. The news has aroused much interest among the heirs, some prominent residents, including Mrs. Daniel Conrad, S. A. Custer, Mrs. Susan Krieger, Saml. Horne, George Horne, Mrs. A. J. Sutton, Mrs. Andrew Burnett, Samuel Conrad, Mrs. Mary Morehart, J. R. Custer, Channery Custer, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Joseph Chestnut and others. Morrison Introduces His Tariff
Bill.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.
WASHINGTON, April 12.—A resolution was offered in the senate by Mr. Beck, which was agreed to, appointing Senator Gibson, of Louisiana, to membership in the senate committee on commerce, in the place of Senator Jones, of Florida, during the present temporary absence of the latter.

HOUSE.

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported a bill to reduce the tariff taxes and modify the law in relation to the collection of revenue. Referred to the committee of the whole. Mr. McKinley presented the views of the minority of the committee.

Mr. Morrison, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution for the appointment of a select committee of seven, to be appointed by the speaker, to investigate the causes and extent of the disturbed conditions now existing in the relations between railroad corporations and their employees in the southwest and to report during the present session. Adopted.

NOMINATIONS.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: Howell E. Jackson, of Tennessee, circuit judge of the sixth judicial circuit, vice John Baxter, deceased; Frank Dyer, marshal of Utah territory. The senate immediately confirmed Judge Jackson in executive session.

NOTES.

Dr. Lincoln said to-night that Secretary Manning is very much better, and that he has improved greatly during the past week.

J. H. Stine, formerly of Union City, for several years clerk in the third auditor's office of the treasury department, has been reduced from $1,600 to $1,200.

The majority report of the committee on ways and means asserts that the average rate of duty last year was $17 on $100 worth of imported goods, which is higher than during the war.

Miss Mattie Vickers is unaffectedly fresh and buoyant, says the Detroit Free Press, who seems to love her work and to put her whole heart and soul into it. She has a demonstrative personality, and she knows how to exercise it. She has a style of her own, a novelty in her method and manner quite distinct from any other artist in her special line.

"TICKET, PLEASE!" The Railroad Conductors Hold an Important Reunion in Fort Wayne—Chief Wheaton Talks on Strikes.

The Order of Railroad conductors had an important gathering here yesterday. Forty divisions were represented from the states of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. The assembly convened at the cozy parlors of the local Brotherhood in the App block yesterday morning. There were present 100 members.

In the absence of Mayor Muhler, Capt. Hugh M. Diehl welcomed the visiting Knights of the Punch and tendered them the freedom of the city. Conductor Wm. P. Sheehan responded for the Fort Wayne boys and Grand Chief Conductor C. S. Wheaton, of Chicago, spoke for the visitors.

The session of the Brotherhood was private and was more to instruct and familiarize the members in the work and purpose of the order than anything else. From this the party adjourned to the Rich hotel, where a most inviting feast awaited disposition. The dinner, like the rest of the day, passed amid pleasant talk and everyone was pleased with their visit and the lavish hospitality of the Fort Wayne order, which, by the way, is composed of some ninety-five of the cleverest fellows met in any walk in life.

"What do you think of the present strike in the southwest?" advanced the newspaper man.

"The conductors have no part in the controversy," remarked Mr. Wheaton, "and not a half dozen conductors on the entire Gould system will be compromised by the controversy. The conductors are working or ready to work. Our order is averse to strikes and can not sustain them. The era of force is past; it is lawless, and the order, composed of thinking, careful men, realize it and propose to stand by and maintain the railroad companies on all occasions. Our men can quit work. They will not strike. We experience no trouble in settling our difficulties by arbitration, and now the executive committee of the order is at Washington working against the passage of the pending arbitration bill, which is a cheat, inasmuch as it provides for arbitration, but does not make the decision of such a board binding or compulsory. It puts a premium on strikes and is not much better than a scheme calculated to first precipitate a strike to induce final and inconsequential arbitration, and is simply an expression on arbitration, without insuring a single blessing from that source. We do not recognize the Knights of Labor, in whose ranks there is constant strife and internal upheavals natural to a body composed of a varied people in every stage of intellectual advancement, and in every condition in life, wielded by every passing fancy and passion. The conductors believe in serving the railroad companies and upholding their interests, because they pay us the highest premium we can command for our labor—the only capital we have. Our membership is select, because, unlike the Knights of Labor, we can choose our company. There are 10,000 members of the order now in the United States, and our insurance plan is increasing in efficiency. We now pay $2,000 for death or total disability, and by June 1 it will be $2,500 for the cause named."

Mr. Wheaton is on his way east, and the visitors repaired to their homes last night and this morning. These meetings will occur annually in Fort Wayne.

SUNDAY SLINNERS.

The Mayor is Greeted by Sirens and Suckers.

Long before the clock at city hall indicated 9, the lobby was a mass of men and boys craning their soiled necks to get a glimpse of three tightly veiled creatures of misfortune, who were arrested at "52" Chicago street in the society of Doc Jackson, the colored cook, Peter Burwell and Isaac Inman. The women registered as Mary Eyhold, Jennie Jones, Annie Smith and Belle Davis. The women had a war of words with the officers who considerably diminished their standing. The lobby observed last night. Madam Eyhold is the rather winsome wife of a shoemaker at Liberty Mills, Wabash county. Her companions are faded. Peter Burwell is from South Whitley. He and Madam Eyhold put up and were not seen. The others went to jail in default of $18 each and they are now hasting their friends.

James Roberts, Casper Linderman and Jack Hines were fined for drunkenness and went to jail.

St. Peter's Church, Rome, Italy.

The church of St. Peter, which Gibbon calls the most glorious, stupendous structure that has ever been applied to the use of religion in the christian era, was commenced by Pope Nicholas the Fifth, in the year 1450, on the site of an ancient Ostia, and after a period of construction of 176 years, and carried through the reign of twenty popes, and directed by twelve architects, among them Bramante, Raffaello, Michael Angelo, Giacomo della Porta and Madrona, it was dedicated by Urban the Eighth, in the year 1626. It stands to-day one of the wonders of the world in point of architecture. Age from commencement, 436 years.
